BANK BANDIT SLAIN, MONEY FOUND BUILDERS' EXCHANGE WILL BUILD

POLICE KILL BANK ROBBER IN GUN BATTLE

About one hour and a half after holding up the San Ramon bank, at Danville, yesterday afternoon, an unknown bandit was stretched out dead and cold upon a slab in the Oakland city morgue, his corpse riddled with bullets which three Oakland policemen had pumped into his body after he had wildly fired three or four shots at Sergeant W. Smith, of the Oakland city police.

Ten thousand dollars in currency which the bandit had taken in a daring and spectacular hold-up of the little bank, was found intact in the Haynes automobile in which he was traveling, and thus the closing chapter was written in one of the most sharply stenciled, lurid chapters in the history of Danville.

STORY OF HOLD-UP

Yesterday about 2 o'clock in the afternoon the bandit entered the San Ramon Bank.

Covering Assistant Cashier Herbert Daley and Clerk Chris Rasmussen with his revolver, he ordered them into the vaults of the bank, gathered $10,000 in currency and coin of the realm, walked out of the bank, ran to the Grangers' warehouse, went from there to an outhouse belonging to Mrs. Case, stepped into his automobile parked nearby and started out the Dublin Road.

Phone Operator Gives Alarm

Mrs. James Dondero, telephone operator at Danville, looking from her window, detecting something suspicious in the little drama, tried to get the bank.

The bandit had disconnected the telephone.

The operator then gave the alarm and Constable Olsen started in pursuit. He was joined by several citizens and a number of shots were fired at the fleeing bandit.

The office of Sheriff R. R. Veale was notified, and he in turn quickly got in touch with the authorities in Oakland, and a description furnished.

When the hold-up man reached Fourth avenue and Oak street inspectors W. Smith, W. Marshall and

LEGION BANS PRIMA DONNA

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—Madame Gaski, singer, whose appearance in a recent Los Angeles has been protested by the American Legion on the allegation she was pro-German during the World War, arrived here yesterday, but did not meet the Legion's city interposts council, which last night adopted a resolution opposing her projected concert in this city next Monday.

The singer has been previously reported as desirous to meet the officials of the council in person.

She said she thought she was to meet them at her hotel. Later, it was said, she received a telephone communication that council officials did not care to call on her, but she might call on them if she chose. But when it was stated, she decided to do this it was too late to get the officials together.

War Rages Over Klan In Gotham

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan demanded by Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts, and governmental prosecution of the organization under way in a number of states, a crisis is felt to be at hand over the spread of the "Invisible Empire" in this country.

At least two governors, John M. Parker of Louisiana, and Henry J. Allen of Kansas, are waging war on the Klan in their respective states, and Mayor Hylan of New York City is emphatic in his determination to "root out" the organization.

The removal of Rev. Oscar Haywood, evangelist with Calvary Baptist Church, of New York City, from the calendar of the church, at the request of Rev. John Roach Straton, the pastor, because of Rev. Haywood's admitted membership in and active participation in organizing the Klan has been signal for a discussion, pro and con, among the clergy.

The Klan was vigorously defended by some, denounced by others.

The proposal of Senator Walsh was that the Department of Justice instruct the district attorneys of those jurisdictions where the Klan has carried on its activities to indict the organization as a criminal conspiracy.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY S. P. TRAIN

Shortly before 5 o'clock last evening a west-bound train of the Southern Pacific struck and killed an unknown young man, near Hercules, but the fact was not discovered till the train reached Oakland mole, when a hat was discovered on the cow-catcher.

An investigation was immediately started, and the body was found near the powder works. The body was not badly mangled, but death must have been instantaneous as the unknown's neck was broken.

Tragedy Is Mystery

Just how the tragedy occurred will never be known. About this time there are trains going east and west, and it is thought that the stranger was walking on one track, and hearing a train coming behind him stepped on the other, when he was instantly killed.

The coroner was notified, and the remains were brought to the undertaking parlors of Wilson & Kratzer last evening.

Letter to "Dear Father"

The only article found on the body was a letter addressed to "Dear Father" and signed with the initials "T. W." The writer stated he was in Dunsmuir and would be coming toward the bay district in a few days.

Wife Electrocuted Trying to Save Mate, Dead By Same Cause

Pittsburg, Dec. 6.—George Montgomery, head truck driver for the Redwood Manufacturing Company of this place, and his wife were instantly killed on Tuesday night when they were electrocuted in a garage at the rear of their home at Cornwell and South streets. The tragedy occurred at 8:30 in the evening.

Montgomery and his wife were preparing to drive out in their Ford touring car. She was seated in the machine and Montgomery was holding an electric light cord in his hand. The floor of the garage was damp and in an unaccountable manner a short circuit resulted.

Wife Dies Giving Aid

Montgomery was hurled to the floor by the shock and his wife rushed to his aid. As soon as she touched his body she received the full force of the electricity. She rushed to the door of the garage and called for help, but before any of the neighbors could reach the home, Mrs. Montgomery dropped dead.

Dr. L. C. Gregory was summoned immediately but nothing could be done to save the lives of the victims. Montgomery's clothing were burning when neighbors arrived and at the risk of her own life Mrs. A. M. Mortimore, who resides close to the Montgomery home, dashed a bucket of water on him, extinguishing the flames.

Deputy Coroner Henry Nuttman on Wednesday morning stated that it was believed a high tension electric light wire near the rear of the Montgomery home had fallen and had struck the cord which Montgomery held when he received the shock that ended his life.

Both Mr. Montgomery and Mrs. Montgomery were well known in this place.

R. South, an electrician residing near the scene of the tragedy, was one of the first to reach the scene. When he arrived Montgomery still clutched the wire in his hands. South wrapped sacks around the cord and pulled the wire from its socket.

Current Pierces Man's Heart

According to Nuttman the electric current pierced Montgomery's heart and death was instantaneous. His body was badly burned.

The only mark on the body of his wife was one toe which was burned off. The current apparently entered her through her feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery were both about forty years of age. He has relatives residing in the east. They had no children and no relatives reside in this vicinity, it is stated.

Montgomery was a prominent member of the Moose and Woodmen of the World.

M. A. HAYS

M. A. HAYS CO. IN BIG DEAL

One of the biggest real estate deals in years was closed yesterday morning when Harry Hays of the M. A. Hays Company sold what is known as the Dooling tract to Oakland capitalists. The transaction was a cash one, and the money was paid over to the Doolings yesterday.

This is what is considered as the choicest piece of acreage left in the city limits of Richmond, and it is understood that the price paid for the property was a fancy one. The exact consideration is not known, but owners of property in that section have been asking $3,000 an acre.

The land was purchased for investment purposes, but it is probable that in the next few years that the new owner of the property will subdivide it and place it on the market.

This section of Richmond has been building very rapidly for the past few years, and it is considered that the demand for lots in the northern end of Richmond will be very brisk.

'Duke' Tilden Tells Public of Plans For Builders' Own Home

The Richmond Builders Exchange is to have a home of its own. The lots have been purchased, and work on the new building will start within the next sixty days.

This announcement was made by E. M. Tilden at the Builders Exchange banquet held last evening. The speaker was greeted with cheers when the good news was made known.

Site on Fourteenth Street
Two lots on Fourteenth street, 175 feet south of Macdonald avenue have been purchased. They were secured through the agency of the M. A. Hays Company. Mr. Hays being chairman of the building committee of the exchange. The lots cover an area of 50x112, and the location is very central.

Mr. Tilden stated that on account of its growth during the past year the Exchange had outgrown its present quarters, and it was finally decided that the organization should have a permanent home.

May Be Two Stories
In the event that the building to be erected is two stories in height the second story will be devoted either to flats or apartments. The entire lower floor will be occupied by the exchange.

Estimated Cost $10,000
Designs for the building will be submitted by different members of the exchange, and a choice will then be made. It is possible that the building when first constructed will be but one story, and it is estimated that it will cost about $10,000. It will be most modern in every respect, will contain a meeting room for the organization, private office for the secretary, and rooms for the contractors and material men. One portion of the floor will be devoted to an exhibit of building materials, so that those contemplating new homes, can see the most modern kinds of materials and appliances that are being installed in other cities.

Members to Finance Project
The building will be financed by the sale of stock to members of the exchange, and Mr. Tilden informed those present at the banquet, that so far 48 had been spoken to, and every one had agreed to take his quota.

CHAS. BROWN DINNER HOST TO BUILDERS

It was Charley Brown night with the Builders last evening. He was the host to all the members of the organization at a duck and goose dinner that was given in the basement of the Elks building, and a right royal time was had by the many present.

Brown had been promising the dinner for some time, and on his return from his hunting trip he was prepared to entertain his co-workers.

Diners Form Big "U"

The tables were set in the form of a "U" and there were about sixty who sat down and enjoyed the banquet. There were all kinds of good things to eat, and the "fixins" that accompany such a repast.

The evening's festivities were opened by Mr. Brown telling his guests how happy he was to have them present; that he had looked forward to the event for a long time. He then introduced P. M. Sanford, president of the Builders Exchange, as the chairman of the evening. Sanford expressed his thanks to the host, and then a rising vote of thanks was tendered Brown, accompanied by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". E. M. Tilden was then called upon and he told of the work of the organization and what it had accomplished during the year that it has been functioning. It operated on the American plan, the speaker said, was 100 per cent strong, so far as the building activities of Richmond were concerned, and now has a membership of 65. Tilden said that much good had been accomplished as a result of the organization, as men who had been strangers to each other in the past, had come to know each other.

Many Speeches

During the evening short talks were made by W. L. Hallenger, H. A. Johnston, J. T. Narrett, G. E. Milnes, (Continued on Page Three)

HELPING UNCLE SAM

It is certain that if Uncle Sam fails to do the right thing it will not be for lack of advice. There are very few statesmen or publicists in England or France who have not taken notice of our benighted condition and pointed out the way for us to go. We notice also there is a good deal of similarity in the directions. The path pretty generally leads from Uncle Sam's strong box to the European pocket.

Sir George Paish, and English financial expert, is the latest of our advisers, and we will say for him that he leaves no doubt of what is wanted. For example, he tells us that we are hoarding our gold in government vaults when it ought to be out in the job of restoring international trade. The fact that we have an interest in protecting ourselves from inflation is noted without much respect.

Sir George rebukes us for putting up our tariff barriers and wants them lowered so that foreign goods can "flow over them."

Next we receive praise for our shipbuilding program in the war, "as without ships we might have starved in England," and we are advised to regard these ships as a war product and sell them for what we can get.

Finally, we are informed that our immigration policy is a great misfortune, and ought to be reversed so that though free immigration we may increase production and thereby better our country as a producer—and as a market for Europe.

Perhaps we ought to repeat that Sir George is a financial expert and not editor of Punch. As a wellspring of disinterested advice, we propose Sir George for the diamond medal. But we might wait until M. Clemenceau arrives.—Chicago Tribune.

ANOTHER NAME FOR WOMEN

Women are vertical oblongs, according to the statement of Frank Alvah Jarvis, president of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art, in a lecture on "Art and Fashion." A woman's clothes should follow her natural bent, or curves rather. A V-shape neck line should grace the women with a round face. A round neck line should be worn by the woman with a long face. Under no circumstances should plumes be worn by a dignified woman. The fluffy things for the fluffy disposition only.

If a large woman wishes to exaggerate her circumference about 30 per cent, she should wear red. Red expands one 30 per cent; baby blue is a balancer. Mauve socks show a psychoanalyst is needed. Monkey fur was created for monkeys. Some humans should wear it. The person who wears orange enjoys living under an elevated railroad. Decorations are to call attention to certain places for particular reasons. Art is to cover up anything better unseen.

"KNOCKING WOOD" FOR LUCK

Why does a person "knock wood" when he does not want his luck to desert him? It is believed to originate from an old Danish myth.

According to the legend an old Danish sea captain, just before starting on a voyage, would always tap on the side of his ship, and then stand in silence and listen for a few minutes.

His belief was that as there were so many millions of their kind in the timbers of the ship, the elves of the wood would come out and bless the ship and ensure it a safe return.

Other Danish skippers followed this practice and, strangely enough, at least so we are told, the vessels so submitted to this quaint ritual, seemed to acquire immunity from the perils of the sea.

As a result the superstition became a custom which has lived to the present day.

A referendum to the Bulgarian people has resulted in sentencing to life imprisonment twenty-two cabinet ministers accused of embroiling the country in the world war. But if the Bulgarians had won these men would have been decorated and hailed as "saviors of their country."

A Philadelphia publicist says that 2 per cent of aliens are in cities and that they should be distributed throughout the country. It would be well to distribute a few of them throughout Europe.

IN THE TREE TOPS

In Papua the unmarried woman lives in a tree high above the other natives, in a shaky little hut made from bamboo. The bamboo treetop home is just large enough for her to eat and sleep in. When she becomes a wife she moves into a home about 25 to 30 feet long, 15 to 20 feet wide and 8 to 10 feet high. The roof of the house is made of bamboo, thatched with the leaves of pandanus trees, or of the coconut or arica plams and supported on a central row of posts. The sides are low and made of the same material. The average New Guinea hut is decorated with the wolver jaws of pigs, the skeletons of fishes and the dried skins of the flying fox.

The men of the tribes have many wives, who slave for them. The women do all the work in the fields and go out and gather the pineapples and bananas. Every man has his favorite wife who lives in luxury while the others toil. When the favorite wife dies all of the other wives must shave their heads and plaster their faces with line as a token of respect, if not regret for the departed.

THAT REVEALING PROFILE

We have always thought that the best way to tell a person's character was by examining them full-faced, so it was a surprise to hear a noted physiognomist say recently that when he wants to be sure of getting the best results he examines the profile. The full face is what we present to people when looking at them and expecting their criticism; eyes are alert, mouth arranged in a becoming line and facial expression at its best.

The profile, however, is said to be the best aspect of the face that the rest of the world most sees and it generally sees it in off moments when we are unconscious of any critical glances. A person whose full face may be bright may have a profile in repose is dull and listless, mouth drooping and facial muscles relaxed. The muscles of a woman's face are softer than those of a man's and so they are particularly susceptible to unsightly sagging and unbecoming changes from every mood.

UNCONQUERABLE SPIRIT

When John Quincy Adams was 80 years old he met in the streets of Boston, an old friend, who shook his trembling hand and said: "Good morning, and how is John Quincy Adams today?"

"Thank you," replied the former president, "John Quincy Adams himself is well, quite well. I thank you, but the house in which he lives at present is becoming dilapidated. It is tottering upon its foundation. Time and the seasons have nearly destroyed it. Its roof is pretty well worn. Its walls are much shattered, and it trembles with every wind. The old tenement is becoming almost uninhabitable, and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it soon. But he himself, is quite well, thank you."

A dispatch from Peking says that China has decided to void a pre-war loan. And yet there are folk who do not look upon the Chinese as wholly civilized.

Speaking of "spirit communication," for proof of which a reward has been offered, do you remember how in the old days "one drink always called for another?"

If triumphant Russia had established a Republic like that of defeated Germany it is quite possible Russia would have been almost as well off as defeated Germany now.

The English system of "caste" frequently is criticised in this country, but England has a labor leader in the very shadow of the premiership.

While investigating charges of brainstorming Judge Landis might do well to settle some of the brainstormers who have cropped out in baseball.

A Chicago heiress to thirty-two millions has become engaged to a poor artist. Who says that there are no fairy tales in real life?

A cable dispatch says the Turks threaten to "go home." Why not hand them their hats?

John Gannow were waiting for him. When the command "halt" was given, the bandit "stepped on the gas," and when crowded, fired several shots at Inspector Smith. His shots went wild.

Bandit Dies at Wheel
The three policemen then opened fire and proved better marksmen than the bandit. When the bandit car reached Twelfth street, at Oak, the robber crumpled up at his wheel.

The car stopped.
Money Is Recovered
In the machine was found a sack containing the $10,000.

"Within twenty minutes after we had been advised of the robbery, the bandit was dead and the money recovered. It was one of the quickest pieces of work our department has to its credit," the Oakland chief of police told the Record-Herald last night.

The San Ramon Bank is an old and substantial institution.

Danville Rich Community
Danville is a flourishing community in the beautiful San Ramon Valley, and is situated about five miles from Walnut Creek, and about 26 miles in a southeasterly direction from Richmond.

The bandit is described as a man about 40 years old; about 5 feet 7 inches in height. He wore a cravenette coat.

There were no marks or papers about his person by which the police were able to identify him last night.

Chief Wood Comments
Chief of Police W. H. Wood last night when informed by the Record-Herald of the quick and effective work of the Oakland police in slaying the Danville bandit and recovering the money, said:

"That will be worth millions of dollars to the banks of the country. It will prevent many other crooks and highwaymen from committing similar crimes."

Chief James Drew, of the Oakland police, and his force are entitled to great credit, and I feel that the bankers of the East Bay and the public will commend them for their excellent work.

Girl Considers Suit Almost as Gift

"Goodness, did you see Jane's lovely new suit today? Stunning isn't it? She's a real sport and bought a new hat, too."

"Yes, and she told me last week that she was suffering for some new clothes and didn't see how she could get a thing until after the first of the year. She said she had to spend so much for Christmas."

"Maybe, she tell her to some money or something. That looks like a mighty expensive suit and hat to me. She looks like a million dollars in it. Here she comes now. Hello, Jane, we were just wondering if you have just felt her to a million, since you have that wonderful new suit, or have you decided to swear off the Christmas presents?"

"Neither, girls, I just heard about Cherry's, that's all. But it's mighty important to me. I did want a suit before Christmas and didn't see how I could afford it until I heard about Cherry's, and went right out. They are at 515 Thirteenth street, and let me tell you it pays to go that much farther."

"Goodness, are they giving suits away?"

"Well, it amounts to the same as far as I am concerned. I couldn't have had it otherwise. But let me tell you. They allow you to buy a suit on credit with six months to pay, as you like. Such convenient payments. I never will miss that amount each month."

Redmen Election On December 13

Election of officers will furnish the program for the evening of Wednesday, December 13th, when the Onetah Tribe of Redmen hold their regular meeting in Pythian Castle. Plans for the election were made by the order last night. The business session will be called at seven to allow the members to attend the whist to be given for the benefit of the Redman Hall later in the evening.

The whist is being arranged by Miss Ann Sullivan and Mrs. Ann O'Rourke, members of Onetah Council, degree of Pocahontas, and will be held in Pythian Castle. Miss Sullivan will raffle a basket of groceries during the evening. The proceeds from the affair will go into the Redman's building fund.

"Blazing Arrows" at the Macdonald

Romance, adventure, drama and thrills are all provided in "Blazing Arrows," Lester Cuneo's latest starring vehicle, which comes to the Macdonald theater tonight.

The story is founded on the problem of a white girl discovering that the man she loves is of Indian birth. This problem is happily worked out in a series of thrilling and dramatic episodes by the author, Henry McCarty. It is the first time in his career that Mr. Cuneo has played the part of an Indian. He is ably supported by the beautiful and charming actress, Francella Billington, who interprets the part of the white girl. The story is said to have all the picturesqueness of Buffalo Bill days and the dramatic tension of William de Mille's famous stage success, "Strongheart," in which Robert Edison played the part of Indian.

Taking the picturesque setting of American Indian life, Henry McCarty has provided in "Blazing Arrows" a fascinating drama that has been visualized under the supervision of Charles W. Mack into one of the most interesting cinema offerings of the season. This picture, in which the well known Western Actor, Lester Cuneo, is presented for the first time in the character of an Indian.

Odd Fellows Plan Degree Program

Preliminary arrangements for a degree program at which time the Sacramento drill team will confer the work were made at a meeting of the Contra Costa Encampment, No. 9, of Odd Fellows in Richmond Hall last night. No definite date was announced for the affair.

The patriarchal degree was conferred on a class at last night's meeting and a banquet was enjoyed by the members of the order. Joseph Lane headed the committee in charge of arrangements.

War Mothers Give Whist This Evening

Richmond War Mothers are ready to entertain the public at whist tonight in the Richmond Clubhouse when proceeds from the affair will be used to fill boxes of goodies for the Christmas treat of invalid service men. Mrs. May Donnelly is in charge of the evening and heads a large committee working for the success of the game.

Turkeys Offered As Whist Prizes

With a live turkey for the winner of every four tables and a chicken as door prize the Pythian Sisters, No. 113, Contra Costa Council will hold a whist Saturday evening in Pythian Castle. Two shifts, the first at seven and the second at nine, are announced for the evening.

Mesdames Evelyn Juillerat, Audrey DeLaney, Sammy Gregory, Misses J. Barellas and Irene Reid and G. C. Combs are in charge of arrangements.

Dramatic Club Will See Show

The Saturday evening performance of "Little Miss Marjolaine" at the Oakland Fulton theater will be attended by the Dramatic Club of the local high school. Seats were reserved for the show following a meeting of the club at the high school Tuesday.

The Ladies of the Richmond Club will hold a bazaar at the Richmond Club House December 1st and 2nd. Open afternoon and evenings. 12-25-26

"Brawn of the North" ... & D. Attraction

It is embarrassing for any third party to be present when a man and woman first admit their love for each other. Strongheart, the dog star faces such a situation in "Brawn of the North," a new First National Attraction produced by Laurence Trimble and Jane Murfin, which commenced last night an engagement of two days at the Richmond T. & D. theater. His embarrassment and subsequent actions are a startling demonstration of the humanness of this wonderful dog.

The incident is but one of several bits of humor that occur in the development of a thrilling dramatic story which approaches its climax by way of the greatest rescue scene that has ever been thrown on the screen. The baby of the heroine has been carried away on a runaway dog sled. Famed sled dogs are on the trail. The sled becomes entangled in some underbrush and the wolves surround the helpless babe. But Brawn, played by Strongheart, has found the trail.

What happens then gives a startling finish to a really great picture. Strongheart gains new laurels as an actor and in his supporting cast are Irene Rich, Lee Shumway, Jean Metcalf, Roger Manning, Joe Barrel, Baby Evangeline Bryant and others, not forgetting Lady Silver, who will win favor because of their splendid performances.

LEO PERSICO

A modern one-story brick building will be erected by Leo Persico, at the corner of Sixteen and Macdonald avenues. The contract for the structure was awarded last evening to Wallace Snelgrove of 160 Eighteenth street at the price of $13,800. The building with the land will represent an investment of $30,000, and shows the faith that Persico has in the future of this city.

The property on which the building will be erected is a fifty-foot lot, and was purchased from the Elliott estate of Chico.

The building will contain three stores on Macdonald avenue, and two on Sixteenth street, and nearly all of them have been leased and will be occupied just as soon as the building is completed.
